FOREWORD

The door is the symbol of beginnings; the symbol of endings. It is through a door we make our entries and our exits. Time closes behind us the doors through which we pass, and we may never travel those ways again except through the door of memory. The 1937 CRITIC-CREST Staff hopes that the door of many happy memories will be opened for you, our classmates and fellow students, as you turn the pages of this book.

But today we are standing before a door whose portals are spread wide that we may pass. Behind us lie the old familiar things; before us is spread a new and wider vista, and in the distance we may see other doors that lead to we know not what. We ourselves must forge the keys to fit these doors, trusting that beyond them lie still richer fields.

SENIORS

Three years ago a rather large group of Sophomores tremblingly entered the doors of Glass High and, after they had become accustomed to their new surroundings, began to fit into and enjoy life at the High School. For two years they struggled in obscurity, watching two other classes in turn basking in the glory of seniorhood, and then, when these had gone, they suddenly awoke to find themselves Seniors—the most observed, envied, and influential members of the student body.

With one year more of school life before them, they set about to make it their best. Making use of the knowledge and experience which they had gained, and of the natural abilities which they possessed, they continually won honors for themselves and for their school, and gained the distinction of being one of the most capable classes which have ever been graduated from Glass High.

There were 275 Seniors, a number which broke the record of 224, which the Class of 1936 had set. From this number, there were forty-five who had averaged above 90 on all courses taken during their three years at Glass High. The second highest average ever made in the school was attained by Jeannette Hughes, with a mark of 97.26, which was .13 less than the record set by P. G. Cosby in 1930.

In literary achievement the Class of 1937 has been outstanding. The Critic, with Elizabeth Anne Campbell as editor, won first place in its class in both the S. I. P. A. and the C. S. P. A. and All-American Rating in the N. S. P. A. Jimmy McPherson, future author according to the Hall of Fame and Editor-in-Chief of the CRITIC-CREST, won first place in the state for the short story; while Nancy Phillips, literary editor of the Critic and class poet, won first place among Class A schools for a poem. The High Times, with Phyllis Osborn as editor, won honor rating in the S. I. P. A. and ranked among the first five in its class in the C. S. P. A.

Athletics also bore the successful stamp of Seniors. Tom Faulkner and Dan Justice deserve mention for their work, both in football and basketball. The basketball team, which won Western District Championship and participated in the play-off for state title, was composed entirely of Seniors: Tom Faulkner, Dan Justice, John Oglesby, Bill Patterson, and Kiah T. Ford.

In dramatics there were three outstanding senior actors, Thebo Jennings, Frank Owen, and Elizabeth Anne Campbell. All were able to display their talent in the annual senior play which this year was a murder mystery in which Frank Owen took the difficult part of Sherlock Holmes.

Prominent in general activity were Phil Crute, president of the Senior Class; Warren Plunkett, president of the National Honor Society; and Elizabeth Hudson, chairman of the Senior Council. Under the leadership of these and others, senior affairs were handled with efficiency.

Now all this participation in school affairs is over. The Class of 1937 is going out of the doors of Glass High into the world. Its members leave to their school the record of their accomplishments in service and honor as an incentive to those who are to take their places.

To Youth

Youth pauses at a gate,
His hand upon the latch; before him spread
The summer of his life, a garden bright,
Mysterious and entrancing, wondrous rare.
The shady lanes and gently-calling birds,
The perfume-laden blossoms cradling bees,
The azure sky and diamond-rippled stream
A tempting picture there present; but he,
Full loath to step into maturity,
Pauses awhile and ponders dreamily
What strange events beyond him lie in wait,
Which petaled path will lead him to his goal—
Or which sunbeam.

Oh, steadfast youth,
When you have stepped beyond this wicket gate,
Pray, do not join the dull and weary throng
Who plod the highway of the world, nor yet
The eager, striving few who haste to reach
Ambition's summit, but to stumble down;
But, ere your summer fades to frosty fall,
Seek out the beauty hidden in a flower,
And, weighted with the heavy toil of day,
Find rest and solace in a silver star.

The 1937 Critic-Crest Staff

This year, for the first time since 1933, three issues of the Critic were assembled by the staff, in addition to the CRITIC-CREST. For the 1936-1937 Critics many changes in format were initiated. A single column page, with wide margins and decorative glosses, replaced the customary two column page. Covers were treated in a modern manner, the fall issue being black and silver; the winter issue, white and cherry; the spring issue black and yellow.

This year's Critic has already taken first place in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, and in the Southern Press Association and All-American in the National, thus perpetuating a long record of literary successes of which the high school is proud.

Every year as Graduation Day draws near, the school wonders how it will ever get along without the Senior Class. It always seems that the most conspicuous and capable members in every field are seniors. It is at this time that the school begins to turn inquiringly to the Junior Class. Are the juniors qualified to carry on with the standards set for them by the Seniors?

It is significant that a junior home room achieved the highest number of honor rolls in the school, thus winning the silver cup that goes with this distinction. Helen Gray McGehee and Carolyn Beardsworth, pupils of this home room, represented our school in French and Latin in the language tournament held at Randolph-Macon College this spring.

The most outstanding athletes in the Junior Class are Floyd McKenna, who has been chosen football captain for next year; Harry Hill, a promising football and basketball man; and Hundley Diffendal, who stars in football, basketball, and track.

The "Cub" issue of High Times, which was edited by Homer Johnson, proved the ability of the Juniors in managing the paper. This issue of High Times was excellent in every way and the members of the staff who will be graduated this spring may rest assured that their paper will be in efficient hands.

Three Junior contributors to the Critic whose work shows great promise are Edward Lewis, Betty Reid, and Mallie Ramsey. They are also on the Critic staff. Many of the best stories and poems in the last issue of the Critic were written by Juniors.

Our debating team was one-half Junior this year, the representatives being Raymond Markley and Edward Lewis.

The Junior Class is also well represented in the more artistic side of school life. Two of the most important members of the orchestra are Eleanor Krebbs, pianist, and Ann Tinsley, who is the violin soloist of the orchestra. The band is also composed largely of Juniors.

This Junior Class is eager to step into the vacancy which the Senior Class will leave. They are assuredly capable of fulfilling all that is expected of them and will strive to live up to the traditions set by the Class of 1937.

ATHLETICS

Football

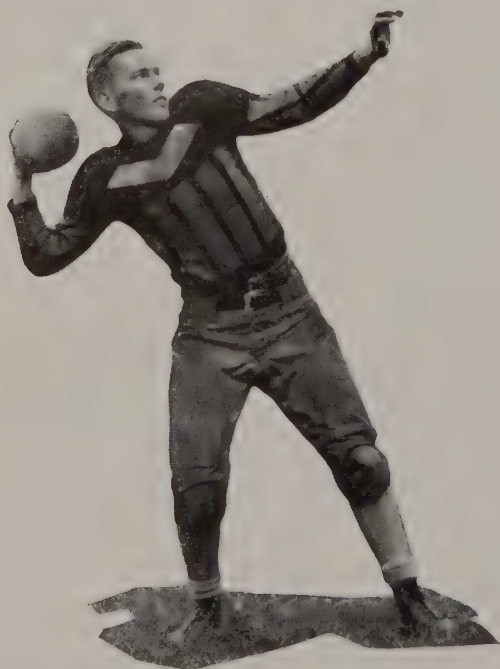

Scanty material and doubtful practice sessions caused Coach Tom Funk plenty of worries at the beginning of the 1936 football season, but before the first game had rolled around the Hilltoppers began to function smoothly and powerfully.

Realizing that his team was taking on the most difficult schedule they had ever attempted, Coach Funk experimented throughout the earlier part of the season in an attempt to mould together two powerful elevens that he could alternately substitute in order to make the most of the eleven-game schedule.

Rabid followers of the Hilltop waited breathlessly for the initial game and after seeing their favorites crush a valiant South Boston High team were amazed to discover that their high school was represented by what appeared to be a powerful team. Although outweighed the following week by the Hampden-Sydney Freshmen, the Hillmen took to the air to gather in two touchdowns for a victory.

Betting odds on Thomas Jefferson High of Richmond for the third game placed the Hilltop as the underdog but the dope was upset in a spectacular fashion when Glass's All-State guard "Red" Saunders placed a beautiful drop kick over the goal posts to give Glass a 3-0 victory.

Visions and talk of a state championship prevailed in the Hilltop camp the next week, but on the following Saturday in Richmond the Hilltop gridders were pushed around in mud and blinding rain to lose to John Marshall, 18 to 0.

Glass played its next contest on the old city stadium field and this change of location seemed to aid them in downing a fighting Salem High team 17 to 0. This victory proved costly, however, as Gentry Plunkett and Mike Hill, halfback and reserve center respectively, received broken collar bones, which forced them out for the remainder of the season.

*First row: DuPriest, Merryman, Saunders, Moseley, Holbrook, Wood, Hooten

Squad: Harry Hill, Billy McClintic, Bruce Thomas, Ted Offterdinger, Maurice McCarthy, Van Wood, Alfred Callaham, Gibson Hooten, Hundley Diffendal, Jimmy Taylor.

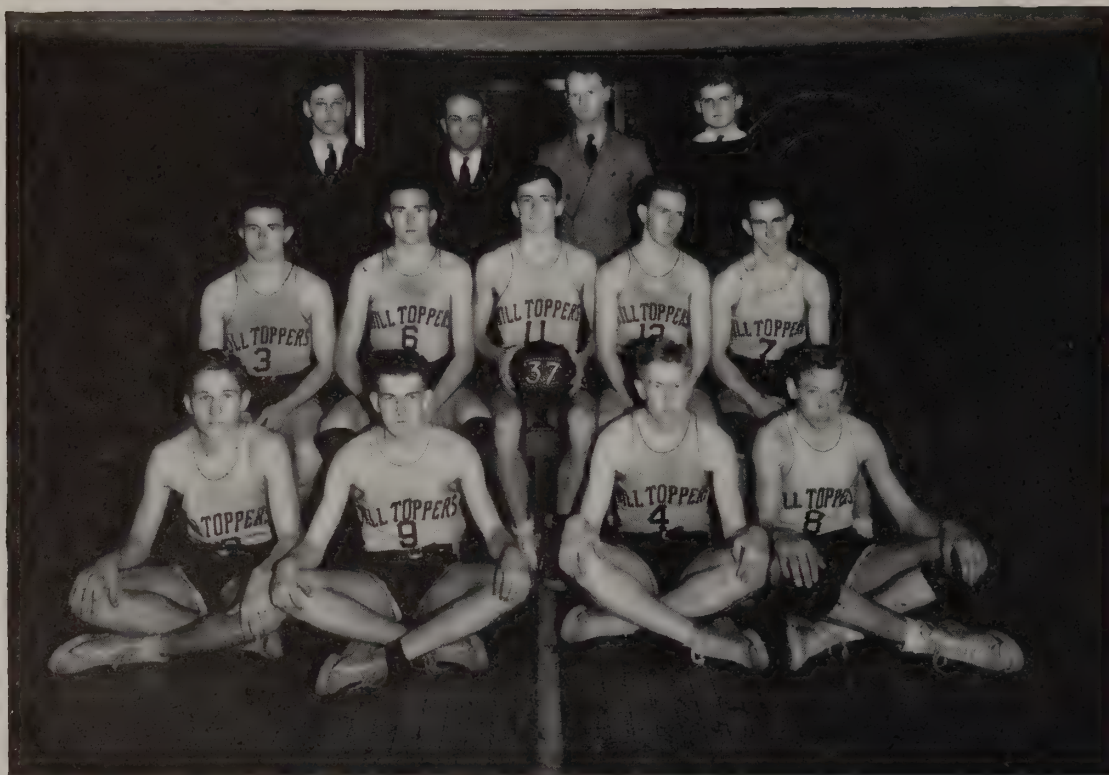

A powerful Maury High eleven had a hard fight in overcoming the Hillmen in Norfolk, when they were victorious by a 13 to 7 count. Although they lost the game, the Hilltoppers had the honor of playing the first high school football game on Foreman Field, William and Mary's new stadium in Norfolk.

The three games that followed were all heart-breakers. Each resulted in a tie. A scoreless deadlock resulted with Danville and the following week Greensboro was tied at 13-13. To make matters worse a tie resulted the next Saturday with Portsmouth this time another scoreless tie.

Glass students banded together and descended the next week upon Roanoke, their arch rivals, in an attempt to atone for all losses by cheering their Blue and White team on to victory. They returned crestfallen when their favorites were defeated by a safety, which proved the winning margin in the Magicians 2 to 0 victory.

Bitter cold prevailed in Charlottesville for the final game as the Hilltop climaxed its season as it steam-rolled to a 19 to 6 victory.

Taken as a whole, the season was a fairly successful one. Out of eleven strenuous games there came five victories, three ties, and three losses. Scholastic difficulties coupled with that old kill-joy, injury, hindered the Hilltop in what should have been a more successful season.

 Second row: Kiah T. Ford, Bill Patterson, Tom Faulkner, (Captain), Dan Justice, John Oglesby.
 Third row: Leon Marks, Faculty Manager McCue, Coach Funk, Ed Galloway.
 Not in picture: Harry Johns, substitute.

Basketball

With perhaps his strongest returning nucleus in years, Coach Tom Funk looked forward to what he hoped would be a most successful basketball season. Before the last game was played this dream became a reality.

From the start the five-man combination of Captain Faulkner, Dan Justice, Bill Patterson, John Oglesby, and Kiah T. Ford showed that they were capable of championship honors. The Hilltoppers found no difficulty in sweeping aside their foes in the early stages of the season. They received their first setback at the hands of Roanoke in an upsetting last quarter rally on the part of the Magicians. Determined to avenge this defeat, the Hilltoppers conquered the Magicians a few weeks later on their home floor; thus clinching the Western District title.

Resume of Basketball Season

The next step to a state championship would have been a victory over John Marshall High of Richmond. Before a capacity crowd in the City Armory, the Hilltoppers met the precision machine of the Justices only to fall behind in defeat. Defeated in their bid for state championship honors, the Glass men had to be content with the Western District title.

As one of the leading basketball teams in the state the Hilltoppers were invited to participate in the South Atlantic basketball tournament at Washington and Lee University. Here their luck failed them, as they were eliminated on the first day of the three day tournament.

Several of the Hilltop players received individual honors for their action throughout the season. Dan Justice was elected All-Tournament forward at the Richmond Invitation Tournament.

Captain Tom Faulkner was elected to the All-State forward position; while John Oglesby was appointed guard and captain of the All-State second team.

Track

Glass High's youthful track coach, Mr. Grover Everett, faced more than one difficult problem at the beginning of the 1937 track season. Aside from a difficult schedule he had a scant nucleus of two returning lettermen, Captain Billy DuPriest and Hundley Diffendal.

Taking what new material he had, Mr. Everett worked for weeks with the result that several promising dash and distance runners were turned out.

The first meet with Durham High of North Carolina was cancelled because of extremely chilly weather. Bad weather proved a handicap to the Hilltoppers for almost half of their meets as either rain or cold weather held the time and distance records down.

Meets with Washington and Lee Freshmen, V. M. I. Freshmen, Hargrave Military Academy, Roanoke, and John Marshall were held.

Coach Everett should be congratulated for his fine work and capable guidance in turning out an excellent team.

Girls' Athletics

Girl's athletics started off with a bang this year! In addition to the regular sports was hockey which proved to be exceedingly popular. Another major activity of the fall was basketball. In the city league the Midgets were the undefeated champions; while the Juniors took the first and second places.

Volley ball was the chief interest of girl athletics during the spring term. For the first time in four years there was a city volley ball league.

Under the able direction of our new coach, Miss Nell Clingenpeel, our girls had an unusually successful year.

Congratulations to Helen Bradley who was chosen to represent the Seniors in the Hall of Fame!

ACTIVITIES

National Honor Society

In the spring of 1925 the E. C. Glass Chapter of the National Honor Society was organized with the purpose of encouraging in the school the cardinal qualities of character, scholarship, leadership, and service. By these four principles—creating an enthusiasm for scholarship, stimulating a desire to render service, promoting leadership, and developing character in the students—American secondary schools develop.

Membership in the Society is chosen by the faculty, which selects no more than fifteen per cent of the upper third of the graduating class, taking into consideration in the selection the scholastic record made by the student during his four years in high school and his rating by the faculty on character, leadership, and service. If a student has shown himself to be exceptionally outstanding in one of these qualities without having made high attainments in the other three requirements, he may still be voted into the society.

Election to membership in the National Honor Society is the greatest honor a pupil in high school can achieve.

Forty-one members, outstanding in scholarship, leadership, character, and service make up the 1937 Chapter of the National Honor Society.

The program in assembly, a very impressive one, had as its main speaker Mr. John M. Turner, of Lynchburg College. His subject was "The Ayes Have It."

The four officers and the service and program committees were elected as soon as possible and the rings, pins, and charms ordered. Plans were also made for the annual picnic.

The Society's service program this year is to consist of coaching, the transcription of the Junior records in order that next year's chapter may get started earlier, and possibly the publication of a handbook.

The E. C. Glass Chapter of Quill and Scroll has completed this year one of the most important pieces of work that it has ever undertaken. During the Lynchburg Sesqui-Centennial, it erected, on his hitherto unmarked grave in the old Methodist Cemetery, a monument of green stone to Bransford Vawter, Lynchburg's first poet. To help meet the expenses, members of the Quill and Scroll sold copies of his well-known love poem, "I'd Offer Thee This Hand of Mine," which has been set to music. Later a sketch of Vawter's birthplace, drawn by Charles Cyrus, was presented by the Society to the Lynchburg Museum.

In the spring, a candlelight service was held for the installation of new members. This was followed by a Quill and Scroll banquet.

The Latin Club is now two years old, and during its second year it has lived up to the record set by its founders. In addition to reference books of Roman life, a number of novels based on Roman history have been added to the club library; and through the efforts of the club examples of Roman scrolls and lamps have become the possessions of the Latin Department. Several members contributed poems, book-plates, and paintings, based on classical subjects, to an exhibition of student work at the state Latin Tournament, held for this district at Randolph-Macon Woman's College on April 17.

At all times the Latin Club has been actively pursuing its goal of making Latin more appealing to high school students.

The Spanish Club, this year, has certainly succeeded in making the study of Spanish a fascinating thing. The members have sung Spanish songs, played Spanish games and presented Spanish plays at their regular meetings. They have become familiar with the best Spanish literature, both prose and poetry.

Senor Roberta de la Rosa, a good will student from Mexico, spoke in Spanish to the Spanish classes describing many of his country's customs, thus giving Spanish students a splendid opportunity to actually use the language they had learned in the class room.

Monogram Club

The Monogram Club is an organization composed of the athletes of the school. The boys and girls who have participated in group as well as individual athletics receive monograms and automatically become members of the club. This year, there were about sixty members, some of whom have earned more than one letter. There are a number of promising athletes who will be left to carry on the school athletics after the graduation of the senior members.

MOTTO—Licht, mehr Licht

The object of the German Club is to supplement classwork and to become acquainted with the life and customs of the German people. Through talks, plays, songs, and games, in which both students and teacher participated, an understanding of these people can be developed. German art, music, and literature contribute to the educational part of the program.

At Christmas the club presented a German play at Randolph-Macon Woman's College. It was very well acted, and adeptly managed.

The David Garrick Players, a club of about forty members who have shown talent and interest in dramatics, has been one of the outstanding groups in Glass High this year. The players have furnished talent for dramatic productions in the Music Department, the Girl Reserves and Hi-Y Clubs and for the Senior Play. Several David Garrick players have taken roles in the Lynchburg Little Theater plays.

For the first time in a number of years, the club entered a play in the Virginia Literary and Athletic Meet. This play; "Heart of a Clown," by Constance Powell Anderson, was under the able direction of Mrs. H. T. Nicholas and Mr. Charles Abbot, Advisers,

The Girl Reserve Clubs in our school have worked hard, played hard and accomplished much. The members this year have sought through their club program to present physical, mental, and spiritual recreation. The members of the Girls' High School and Be Square clubs, have, by a splendid fellowship, obtained "a consciousness of the value of other personalities expressed through an outgoing of spirit and manifested by good acts."

The purpose of the Girl Reserve movement is to give high school girls the habits, insights and ideals that will make them responsible, capable, and Christian young women.

No organization with such a purpose engraved on the hearts of its members can help succeeding.

PURPOSE: To create, maintain, and extend throughout the high school and community high standards of Christian character.

MOTTO: Clean Scholarship, Clean Sportsmanship, Clean Speech, Clean Habits.

The Hi-Y Club, as its purpose states, does much to promote high standards of Christian character not only for its members but also for their associates and friends.

Looking back over the past year, we find that twenty-three boys, along with Mr. Driskill, adviser of the club, went to Camp Kent one Sunday directly after school started and spent the day discussing the plans for the coming 1936-37 year. With this good start the Hi-Y has launched the most successful year of its history. Among the other activities the club gave its annual dance, delivered baskets to the poor at Christmas, the Father and Son Banquet. It also gave its annual play with the Girl Reserves. The club also sent Mr. Driskill, Bert Schewel, Russel McBride, L. T. Agee, and Billy Wood to the State Hi-Y Convention as representatives of the E. C. Glass Hi-Y Club.

Orchestra

Accompanying our assembly programs has been one of the most conspicuous services of the High School orchestra this year. But the crowning achievement, climax of all their service, was their prominent part in the operetta. With Mr. Bierly as conductor, the orchestra has become a delight to the whole student body.

Band

With a crash of cymbals and a squeaking of instruments the band started its first practice under the new director, Mr. R. L. Bierly. Since the first practice the band has progressed rapidly and efficiently and now they play difficult pieces by the masters.

The band started work this year with an attendance of twenty-eight and at the end of the semester had an enrollment of sixty-three. Eleven of the original twenty-eight will be lost because of graduation.

The seniors have been trained by Mr. Bierly in directing and they have become quite adept at the art. The band has furnished music for the football games, several basketball games, and participated in the Lynchburg Sesqui-centennial parade.

First row: Mr. Bierly, Nick Smith, Seaborn Mabaffey, Bryan Bowen, Monty Ferguson, Dick Dillon, Eleanor Jordan.

Third row: Gray Weigand, Henry Thaxton, Robert Mahanes, Earl Mason, Winston Foster, Eugene Spradlin, Walker Sydnor, George Richardson, Owen Weigand.

Glee Club

This year, the Glee Club headed by our incomparable Mr. Bierly, has furnished one continuous surprise over their remarkable progress in the field of music.

The two groups, the Girls' Glee Club and the Boys' Glee Club, as they were last year, have been combined into one harmonious organization of sixty-five members.

The songsters have supplied delightful musical presentations throughout the school year. Two charming holiday programs were presented at Christmas and Easter. The club made up the nucleus of the annual operetta, which was followed by a spring concert.

With fired ambition and the "push" of the student body, the Glee Club will hit High G in the fall.

TOM FAULKNER
President of The Honor League

The Honor League

For a number of years, the Honor League has been only a name. But last fall a group of seniors, attending the S. I. P. A. Convention in Lexington, were tremendously impressed with the honor system they saw at work in Washington and Lee University. They awoke to the necessity of an effective system in the high school, deciding that the reason for the inefficiency of the existing system was lack of active student government. These seniors came back home burning with a desire to establish a good honor system in their school. They have made an encouraging beginning, and it is reasonable to expect that in future years the Honor League will improve steadily.

Under the present system, those who witness an act of cheating, stealing, forging notes, etc., report the fact to the Honor Council. This council is composed of the president, vice-president, secretary, and a senior, a junior, and a sophomore representative. Advised by Miss Phipps, Miss Harvey, and Mr. Everett, they try the case, putting the accused and the accuser "on the stand" separately. Then they decide whether the person is guilty and, if he is, what punishment shall be administered, according to the definitions of crimes and penalties listed in the newly revised Constitution. The Council has published from time to time what it has been doing, to keep ever before the students the fact that the Honor League is working. Students have shown splendid cooperation in reporting cases of dishonesty to the council and a new attitude towards cheating seems to have developed. There is an increased respect for the name of the Honor League, and we feel certain that in future years, as the League grows in prestige, the high sense of honor which we covet for our student body will become a vital reality.

Library Council

"We, the students of the E. C. Glass High School, in order to insure a more perfect enjoyment of the benefits of our library, do ordain and establish this constitution for the government thereof"—thus reads the preamble of the constitution of the Library Council of the E. C. Glass High School.

Not only has the library a constitution, but Glass High students are governed while in its precincts by a Senate and a House of Representatives.

The House of Representatives assembles in the Library each morning at 8:45 to return the books from their respective home rooms and to take out new books. Each member of the Senate has a specific period of the day to report for duty and at each period two members of the Senate assist Miss Craighill at the desk.

The Library houses approximately ten thousand volumes and has an average yearly accession of five hundred volumes.

Lynchburg College is recognized as one of the first class educational institutions in the South. Courses leading to the Bachelor of Arts Degree are carefully arranged in keeping with the highest academic standards. Pre-professional courses in engineering, medicine, law, dentistry, and religion are planned in line with the requirements of leading professional schools.

In addition to the usual sports, the completion of the College Lake gives excellent opportunity for aquatic sports. Special emphasis is given to universal physical education.
